Wild leopard breaks into Zoo

- Leopard cub strays from Chamundi Hill.
- Zoo-keepers alerted by Lion-tailed Macaques' panic calls.
- Tranquillised in third shot.
- Zoo shut for three hours.
- Opened at 12 noon.

Mysuru, Oct. 26 (PM&NNN)- A one-and-a-half-year old wild leopard broke into Mysuru Zoo here this morning creating panic among the inmates. As a result, the Zoo was closed to visitors for nearly three hours.

The leopard was spotted sitting on the Peepul tree around 9 am by Zoo-keepers Raju and Shekar when they were in the Lion-tailed Macaques' enclosure watching the animals. They heard the Macaques in the enclosure, making noise, which were supposed to be perched on the trees but now sitting on the ground. Alerted by the Macaques' panic calls, the Zoo-keepers lifted their heads to find the leopard sitting nearly 60 feet above them on the tree.

Immediately they alerted the Zoo authorities. The 'Operation Leopard' began with 20 Zoo-keepers, three veterinary doctors and three supervisors. The doctors tried to tranquillise the leopard. They shot darts containing the tranquilliser and only in their third attempt were they successful.

Dr. K.V. Madan, the Veterinarian who shot the tranquilliser, told Star of Mysore: "The operation lasted for nearly two hours. We were successful in tranquillising it in the third attempt. The Macaques' enclosure is dense with lots of trees. The Zoo-keepers spotted the leopard when they were on their routine duty. They were alerted by the strange sounds the Macaques were making incessantly."

Asked how the leopard could have strayed into the Zoo, Dr. Madan said, "It is very unfortunate that the leopard strayed into the Zoo. It must have entered the Zoo around midnight. Next to the Zoo compound and between where the circus tent is pitched, there is a small patch of forest area. Then there is Karanji Lake, which in turn is connected to Chamundi Hill, where there are a lot of leopards. This is the landscape of the area."

Burdensome babudom Carefree citizenry

Given the classical definition of democracy as a way of governing a country by its people, and for its people by an administration of its people, another term self-rule is popularly used in some circumstances. Also, given the features that only four out of five in the land's total headcount are eligible to take part in the action of self-rule, and further, just about two-thirds of this eligible mass actually take part through exercising their right of franchise to elect the so-called people's representatives, the intrinsic meaning of both democracy and self-rule loses its built-in message. In effect, the definition of democracy gets fractured to self-rule by some people, for some people and of some people of the country, which definition eminently suits the goings on under successive dispensations.

Law-makers in Urban Local Bodies, such as in Mysuru, represent about 15,000 residents each, while each member of the Legislature in most States across the country represents about two lakh citizens and each member of the country's Parliament represents about 20 lakh citizens in numerical or quantitative terms. The mechanisms of these elected law-makers representing the people in qualitative terms to whatever extent beats one's imagination, given the complex and diverse nature of the land's people socially, economically, ethnically and so on.

The game of governance, following the steps of the Election Commission setting into motion the process of enabling the eligible voters to elect the people's representatives virtually witnesses the law-makers and the army of babus as the two sole players of the game in a win-win contest for both leaving the carefree citizenry as the losing party. As if to remind all the three players in the land touted to be engaged on self-rule, the nation's President, addressing the joint congregation of MLAs and MLCs of the Karnataka State Legislature yesterday in celebration of 60 years of the iconic structure of Vidhana Soudha (humorously portrayed by a wit as nidhaana soudha referring to the red-tape-culture of the army of babus), said that the Legislators are both public servants as well as nation-builders.

The President reportedly made it a point to remind those working in the Vidhana Soudha and also ordinary citizens to diligently carry out everyday tasks of nation-building. The extent to which the law-makers, the babus and the citizens (barring exceptions) are addressing the tasks doesn't need any elaboration.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Everyone knows sexual abuse happens all the time, and yet when they are confronted with some "news," they are taken aback. We need to examine the power of the abuser; What power does a twenty-two-year-old actress trying to make a headway into Hollywood have against a production house mogul to say no? What power does an intern have to say no to her boss? What power do beauty contestants have to say no to the man who owns the Miss Universe franchise? In a society where a woman walking down the street alone is assumed to be giving her consent, we need constant visual reminders like the #MeToo movement that took over social media lately. The intent behind (mostly) women owning up/confessing to being sexually harassed was intended to "give people a sense of the magnitude of the problem." But who are these people, who don't know that the magnitude of this problem has been normalised so much that it has even stopped being considered much of a problem anyway.

Mysterious sleep marathon!

Frankfort: 7-year-old boy Wyatt Shaw, from Elizabethtown, Kentucky, recently woke up from an 11-day slumber that left doctors scratching their heads. When he woke up, the second-grader had trouble speaking and moving around, but made good progress and is expected to make a full recovery.

"He was awesome, he stole the show. He took the bride away from the groom," Amy Thompson recalled about the wedding before her son's mysterious sleep marathon. Realising something wrong with her son, Thompson took him to a doctor, who, after hearing her story, immediately sent them to Norton Children's Hospital in Louisville, where the boy continued to sleep for 10 straight days. Doctors initially did all the tests which came back clean. Thompson said that Wyatt "was just having electric misfires in his brain and it was just causing him to stay in a constant sleep," so doctors used new medication usually used for helping with seizures to wake him up, and after 11 days, the boy finally came out of his unusual slumber.

Unusual source of income

Ottawa: Jessica Gould, a 32-year-old woman from a small town in Ontario, Canada, who makes upwards of $70,000 by taking photos of her feet in various positions and posting them on Instagram.

Gould discovered the lucrative albeit unusual source of income completely by accident. While casually searching for a hobby to fill her free time, the young Canadian came across a local job ad for female foot fetish models.

She scoffed at the idea and had some professional photos of her feet taken and started posting them under the name that became her alter ego, Scarlet Vixxen. It didn't take long for her to realise that she had accidentally discovered a virtual gold mine.

Today, Scarlet Vixxen has over 12,000 fans on Instagram, to which she offers at least 3 new photos of her feet every day.

Unfriendly KSRTC staff?

Sir,

It is a matter of regret that the KSRTC, rather its staff, look down upon the student-pass holders nowadays, restricting their travel to few specified buses only, rather than allow to commute in its entire fleet. This looks an utter discrimination.

Is it because students avail concessional rates? Well, it is not a favour, but a right extended to the learning community by the Corporation itself — deeming it a part of its CSR. Even in buses where students are allowed, I have observed most of the conductors twist their faces unwillingly as if they do a great obligation by allowing entry.

Also, Jatra Special trips continue to run even 2 or 3 days after the event, obviously with a fare hike, which is not justified, as special trips are made to help the crowd have an easy to and fro movement, and at the same time the Corporation is assured of full occupancy beyond capacity. No need for a fare hike, as fare tariff here in Karnataka is already one-and-a-half time higher compared to our neighbouring States. Again Jatra Specials deny entry to student passes.

It is high time the Transport Corporation realises its folly and train its staff to be more passenger-friendly, allow students to board any bus to reach their destinations, to avoid protests that happen frequently these days.

'Operation Cheetah'
City Police launch special traffic checking drive

4,418 cases booked, Rs. 4,92,700 fine collected on the first day

Mysuru, Oct.26 (RK&KS)- In a bid to strengthen traffic facilities and to make motorists to compulsorily follow traffic rules the Law and Order Police, Traffic Police officials and staff have launched 'Operation Cheetah,' a special traffic checking drive in city yesterday.

ACP (Traffic) K.N. Madaiah, speaking to SOM this morning, said that as traffic violations have increased in city, the Traffic Police, with the help of Civil Police, are conducting surprise checking in city since yesterday. He said that the Special Drives would continue on any day and any time and added that the drives may be conducted daily, weekly or fortnightly and added that there is no specification on when and where it would be conducted.

During the first day of the Special Traffic drive yesterday, Traffic Police, along with Civil Police and Home Guards, were seen conducting surprise checking at almost all major points in city catching motorists found violating traffic rules. The Special Traffic Drive, which began from 4 pm, concluded at about 7 pm during which the Police booked 4,418 cases besides collecting Rs. 4,92,700 as fines from the offenders.

During the Special Drive in N.R. Traffic Police limits, the Cops caught a rider riding a Hero Honda Splendor Plus bike and on checking the Blackberry device, the Police came to know that the rider had committed 108 traffic violations and had failed to pay the fines. The Police collected a total fine of Rs. 10,800 from the biker.

As the drives would be conducted on any day any time, City Police Commissioner Dr. A. Subrahmanyeswara Rao has urged motorists to carry their Driving License (DL) and other relevant documents while driving or riding and co-operate with the Police during the drives.

'Condition of roads alone is not cause for accidents'

Says retired Traffic Police Officer Shankaregowda

Shankaregowda

Mysuru, Oct.26 (NNN)- The condition of roads alone are not responsible for accidents. Just blaming them does not serve any purpose. The road users who violate traffic rules are also responsible for accidents, said Traffic Police Officer Shankaregowda (Retd.).

He was reacting to the widespread opposition to the straightening and widening of the curve near Jaladarshini Guest House, close to Kalamandira on Hunsur Road by various organisations in city, on Oct.23 and said that if one follows the traffic rules strictly then accidents could be prevented.

"Accidents occur only when the motorists drive recklessly violating all traffic rules. Accidents are occurring at this spot due to the violations and not because of the curve. There are lot of ways to prevent accidents like putting curbs on speed, placing warning sign boards, stopping drunken-driving and strict enforcing of rules for using mobile phones while driving," said Shankaregowda.

The easier solutions to prevent accidents near the curve is to put up scientific road humps and painting them regularly. One more solution is to build Scientific Semi Rotary Circle like the ones near Kurubarahalli Circle and Millennium Circle, LIC Circle near Bannimantap.

For instance, lot of accidents used to occur near LIC Circle, but after the Semi Rotary Circle was put up, accidents reduced drastically, he said and added, it is also important to do a study of the cause of accidents scientifically and how to prevent them.

"I have served a major part of my service in the Traffic Department and that too in Mysuru itself. If I have to share my views based on this experience, accidents that have occurred near the curve opposite Jaladarshini Guest House, have all occurred either in middle of the night or early in the morning. And, the reason for this is not the curve but due to negligence of the drivers. Hence, instead of blaming the road and taking strict action against such erratic drivers, the State Government is trying to find fault with the road and wants to spend crores of rupees to straighten and widen it. This is sheer waste of public money and there is no point in splurging it deliberately," said Shankeregowda.

City Police to hold Traffic Adalat on Oct. 28

Traffic Advisory Committee formed to seek suggestions from public

Mysuru, Oct.26 (KS)- The density of traffic increasing day by day in city, may lead to traffic problems, hence a Traffic Advisory Committee has been formed in city to seek suggestions from the public to streamline the traffic. A 'Traffic Adalat' in this regard has been arranged at Police Bhavan on Oct. 28 at 9.30 am.

City Police Commissioner Dr. A. Subrahmanyeswara Rao is the Chairman and DCP Dr. Vikram V. Amathe is the Vice-Chairman of the Committee. Selected members of the public and representatives of the KSRTC, RTO and other Departments are the members of the Committee. Officials of MCC, MUDA, CESC, NHAI and others will participate to address grievances related to traffic. Interested persons may participate in the meeting and give their suggestions, according to a release.

Notorious rowdies arrested in Mandya

Country-made pistol, machetes seized

Mandya, Oct. 26 (KS)- Mandya Police have arrested two rowdy-sheeters for plotting extortion and dacoity and also seized a country-made pistol and machetes from them.

The arrested rowdy-sheeters have been identified as Nagaraju and Mohan.

On Oct. 20 night, Nagaraju and Mohan, who had planned to extort money and commit dacoity, were proceeding in a car on Old MC Road in Mandya when Circle Inspector Santosh Nagaraju and SI Niranjan, who were on night beat, intercepted the car.

On checking the car, the Police found that the duo were carrying a country-made pistol and machetes and took them into custody. During interrogation, the two rowdy-sheeters are said to have told the Police, that Nagaraju had bought the country-made pistol for Rs. 30,000 from one Rangaswamy, an Excise Contractor and a rowdy-sheeter. But the Police are yet to ascertain from where the pistol was brought from as Rangaswamy had committed suicide.

Nagaraju

Mohan

Meanwhile, SP Radhika said that the Police have come to know why Nagaraju had bought the country-made pistol. She said that Nagarju's brother, also a rowdy-sheeter, was brutally attacked by his rivals and is now recovering in the hospital.

As Nagaraju feared that the gang may also attack him, he is said to have bought the pistol but was using it to commit extortion, dacoity and other crimes.

Nagaraju and Mohan were produced before a Court, which has remanded them to Judicial custody, according to sources.

Meanwhile, the Police, who are investigating into the matter, are suspecting that more such weapons may have been brought to the town.

"There is a great proverb, that until the lions have their own historians, the history of the hunt will always glorify the hunter."

—Chinua Achebe, Nigerian novelist

Adolf Hitler, the Fuhrer, was a courageous man. He did not hide himself like Saddam Hussein of Iraq in a hole nor did he run away to Argentina or some friendly country seeking refuge like some of his collaborators. He killed himself, not to suffer a public humiliation like his ally Benito Mussolini, the Duce, who was hung upside down in a public square in Rome.

I have heard, in defeat defiance — it was Hitler. In victory forgiveness. All Hindu kings had this "Yuddha Dharma" (ethics of war) and needless to say they paid the price. One of the reasons for Muslim occupations and rule in different parts of India for nearly 600 years is just the failure of Hindu Kings to liquidate the defeated enemies.

In retrospect, one could even say if America had not entered the war and dropped the atom bomb over two Japanese cities, Hiroshima and Nagasaki, I guess the historians might have had to write a different kind of history of World War II and also of India with Netaji Subhash Chandra Bose as the President or Prime Minister of free India. Of course, this is the big "Ifs and Buts" of history. Which is why, I quoted the great proverb prevalent in Nigeria. Let it be.

At 5.30 pm sharp, our guide Tom, who has by now become my friend, bid goodbye with a hug after narrating the last part of his biography confessing that he was and is a gay and also an artist — painter. I was pleased with his honesty and wondered how every smiling person has his hard days, long journey, not knowing where he will be tomorrow. And yet, to be positive about the future is all that matters for living. Otherwise, it is like being more dead than alive. With apologies to Swami Vivekananda.

No wonder, when I sought a picture with him for my album, he readily agreed and pecked my forehead (see pic). Later, there was a scandalous laughter among my people. For obvious reasons.

In the earlier episode though I had written about Hitler's Bunker and his end, I could not publish the picture for want of space. I publish one here.

The following day, having got the Bethala of a guide from behind our back, we decided to find our own way. We called for a taxi and soon we discovered the driver was a Muslim, not from the colour of his skin. He was as fair skinned as any local German. Apparently, he was from Turkey and a devout Muslim who flaunted his religion rather brazenly — a beard and a rosary, prayer beads, in the right hand with rings having religious symbols on his fingers. Wondered how he could count the prayer beads and drive. GoK.

We took a drop at the Holocaust Museum and the Memorial to the murdered Jews of Europe — a unique Memorial known as Field of Stelae (an upright stone slab, see pic). It is like a maze. There are 13 pathways which are wheelchair-accessible. The books, literature, cinemas about Holocaust and the persecution of Jews during Hitler's rule were mostly written and produced by Jews, a race very intelligent and creative. Naturally, there could be exaggeration, I thought. However, after visiting Dachau in Munich I changed my opinion. About it later.

The World War II and the German Government's conduct towards its own citizens under Hitler, specially the minorities — Jews, Sintas and Roma — and the way they were persecuted should be a lesson to all the Governments all over the world. I was wondering why in Hitler's scheme of persecuting the minorities Muslims were not mentioned. Could be, their number was minuscule and presence negligible. Could be also for the reason Turkey remained (wisely) neutral between both the Axis and the Allies until it saw victory for Allies and (again wisely) joined the Allies in February 1945, just before the war ended. Good. May be, that is the reason Muslims don't figure in the evil design of Hitler like what he did to the Jews.

Jews were persecuted in every way possible, apart from Hitler's "final solution" for Jewish problem (if it was a problem at all). For example, from 1st April 1933 Jewish shops should not be entered by Germans by race. Hitler's private force called SA would put up posters: "Germans do not buy from Jews." Or "Germans buy only at German shops." Germans abroad were also asked to boycott Jewish shops. The Jewish manufacturing companies were also threatened. However, bread is more important for a human being than pride. The campaign was stopped when it was found people did not take part in the boycott.

In the evening, we saw a musical entertainment show at the theatre close to our hotel which was sans creativity, only sound and colour.

HITLER'S BUNKER AND CHANCELLERY: On 16.10.2017 I had written about Hitler's Bunker in Berlin. Germans seem to feel deeply disturbed for the crimes against Jews that they have obliterated almost all the buildings and structures connected with Hitler except for the Reichstag (Parliament) building. This picture is of the place where Hitler's Chancellery and the Bunker stood, now beyond a trace of recognition. Visitors read an information board displayed there and go.

Centre clears upgradation of Kanhangad-Madikeri State Highway into a National Highway

Kasaragod, Oct. 26 - The Union Ministry of Surface Transport has given in principle approval to turn the 105-km Kanhangad-Madikeri State Highway into a National Highway (NH).

With approval coming to develop the road into 25-mts-wide two-lane road, it will provide direct connectivity to Bengaluru from North Kerala and will pass through Kodagu district. It will link key defence units in Bengaluru with Ezhimala Naval Academy besides aiding development of tourism circuits linking Bekal Fort and Ranipuram, spiritual centres like Nithyanandashram and Anandashram in the district, and the temple town of Talacauvery, 74 km from Kanhangad.

The Centre has given consent to carry out a comprehensive survey and a Rs. 2-crore tender for the same has been awarded to Salem-based Mukesh & Associates. The firm has been told to complete the process in five months, a senior PWD official said here.

The road would be laid by widening the existing 44-km road linking the eastern hill township of Panathur in Kerala and another 60 km road till Madikeri. The road will have paved shoulders, parking slot, petrol bunks, and drainage system. "We are awaiting the final nod to commence the survey after which a Detailed Project Report (DPR) will be prepared to go ahead with the project," the official said.

Kasaragod is approximately 28 km from Kanhangad and the existing State Highway passes through Bekal Fort to reach Kasaragod.

As per the upgradation of NH project approved by the Centre, the road between Kanhangad and Madikeri will be widened.

The NH will pass through Sullia (Dakshina Kannada) from Kasaragod and reach Madikeri and will connect the Highway from Madikeri to Mysuru.

Reacting to the Centre's decision, former Minister and Madikeri MLA M.P. Appachu Ranjan said that the proposed National Highway will provide direct connectivity to Kerala via South Coorg and the implementation of the project will boost Kodagu's economy. Also, widening of the existing State Highway to make way for National Highway does not cause environmental harm. As such, the project should be expedited, he said and urged for upgradation of Kushalnagar-Madikeri-Mangaluru Road.

Appachu Ranjan

Former Speaker and Virajpet MLA K.G. Bopaiah said that the proposed National Highway will be of much help to those travelling to the International Airport at Mattanur in Kerala. However, it is disgusting that some environmentalists are opposing the project. Many National Highways in the country have passed through wildlife reserves and in such a situation, what is wrong if the proposed National Highway passed through Kodagu, he wondered.

Fernhills Palace in Ooty bags Best Suite Award

Mysuru, Oct.26 (NNN)- The Fernhills Palace, Ooty, has been adjudged the winner in the Best Suit category by the Outlook Traveller magazine.

Pramoda Devi Wadiyar, the owner of the hotel, speaking to Star of Mysore about the Boutique Award 2017 said, "I am delighted that we have been recognised for the award. This came as a very pleasant surprise to me, as a Deepavali gift, as we had never applied for the award nor was there any competition in this regard."

She said that when she spoke to Outlook Traveller, they told her that the jury had come incognito to the hotel, stayed there, made all observations and then adjudged it under the Best Suite category.

"I am proud to tell that my husband late Srikantadatta Narasimharaja Wadiyar and I had worked very hard to do up the hotel. We had not borrowed any money and were able to build it up slowly from our own finances. It is very difficult to run a hotel in Ooty as the weather conditions are very harsh and the business is seasonal," said Pramoda Devi Wadiyar.

The award was presented in Haridwar on Oct.23. "I could not personally go to receive the award as it was at such short notice. Hence, I had sent my representative in Delhi to receive it," she said.

Apparition in Gundlupet farm rattles farm hands

Scared labourers narrate chilling tale of humanoid's appearance

Gundlupet, Oct.26 (SOM.G, HM&NNN)- The evening breeze was blowing across the fields, the dogs were barking at a distance, even as a few labourers, mostly tribal women were involved in their daily routine of farm work.

Suddenly, the farm hands had a life-changing experience, as an apparition appeared descended from nowhere and it grew in size. A loud shriek escaped from the mouths of all of them. They were completely rattled with this strange experience.

This was no ghost story that appears in magazines and storybooks. This is what the labourers working in a farm in Gundlupet taluk bordering Bandipur National Park experienced, on Oct.24 around 4 pm.

Four women and two men were working in a farmer's land in Madduru Colony. Out of the blue, a strange-looking huge creature resembling a human being, red in colour, with a distorted face appeared. The apparition started moving towards the labourers.

"On seeing the creature appearing closer and closer, we ran for our dear lives to the nearby houses and hid ourselves," said labourers Ratnamma, Seeramma, Lakshmamma and Siddappa. As a few other farmers saw the apparition, it moved towards the Madduru forest and sat on a nearby tree, then assumed the form of a balloon and flew away, said the labourers.

The women labourers completely shaken by this strange experience refused to come for work yesterday, said Raghavendra, hailing from Kerala, who has taken the farm on contract.

The Forest Department officials, who learnt about this experience, visited the farm and investigated. However, they could find nothing resembling an animal or a humanoid. They have asked the people to inform them if anything like this appears again.

However, the experience has left the villagers completely shaken. The Girijans are scared to go back to work and they are not even allowing their children to venture out.

Meanwhile, rumours are doing the rounds about whether the creatures were aliens that had appeared in flying saucers.

Alien sighting in Periyapatna: It may be recalled that two years ago, in the month of October, Kanagal village in Periyapatna taluk of Mysuru District was in the limelight, after a few agriculture labourers had reported alien sighting. The women in the village had claimed that a spacecraft had descended close to them and they could spot humanoid figures.

This experience had become a hot topic for discussion among the alien enthusiasts.

On the success of the operation, Dr. Madan said: "The Lion-tailed Macaques' enclosure is very dense with lots of fully grown trees. The Peepul tree on which the cub was perched is very tall. My colleagues and I had to tranquillise the leopard that was sitting almost at a height of 60 feet. In our third attempt, we were successful."

The Zoo-keepers climbed the tree and only when they were sure that the tranquilliser had its effect could they bring the cub down. "I watched the movement of the leopard through the binoculars. Once I became certain that the tranquilliser had worked, the Zoo-keepers climbed tree and brought it down to the waiting net, which was kept spread. The cub is one-and-a-half years old," he said.

B.P. Ravi, Addl. Principal Chief Conservator of Forests and Member Secretary of Zoo Authority of Karnataka (ZAK), addressing the media, said: "We came to know about the presence of the leopard on the top of a tree in the monkey enclosure around 9 am. Immediately we checked and found that the leopard did not carry a number and we realised that it is not from the Zoo and must have strayed from Chamundi Hill, where there is a concentration of leopards."

According to Ravi, the leopards have the capacity to climb trees. "We still have to look into how the leopard could have come all the way from the Hill to the Zoo escaping the eyes of people on the roads," he said.

It will be kept under observation in the Veterinary Hospital in the Zoo premises.

Zoo shut for technical reasons

The Chamarajendra Zoological Gardens is a popular tourist destination in Mysuru. Many visitors had gathered outside the Zoo from morning itself. However, they were denied entry with a signboard saying, 'Due to technical reasons the Zoo is closed. Please cooperate.' The visitors were waiting for the Zoo to open, as they did not know that a leopard had strayed and efforts were on to rescue it.

Chairperson upset

ZAK Chairperson Mallige Veeresh, speaking to the media, said that she was kept in the dark about the presence of the leopard inside the Zoo. "I came to know of it only through the media. The higher officers keep ignoring me though I am the Chairperson. It looks like the security has failed in this instance since a wild leopard has strayed into the Zoo," she said.

Once the 'Operation Leopard' was successful, the Zoo was thrown open to the visitors.

BJP's 'Mission-2024' convention

Maintaining that the NDA Government led by Prime Minister Narendra Modi at the Centre had addressed several issues pertaining to agriculture and farmers, the senior BJP leader said that today's conference was aimed at encouraging farmers to adopt organic farming.

He highlighted the role of various morchas in strengthening the party's organisational base.

Earlier, State Raitha Morcha leader Prasanna N. Gowda delivered the keynote address.

State BJP President and former CM B.S. Yeddyurappa, Former Ministers S.A. Ramdas and B. Sriramulu, leaders K.R. Mohan Kumar, H.V. Rajeev and others were present.

C.H. Vijayashankar skips convention

Meanwhile, State BJP Raitha Morcha President and former MP C.H. Vijayashankar, who was supposed to lead the conference was conspicuous by his absence. Vijayashankar, a former Minister in the B.S. Yeddyurappa Cabinet, is said to be planning to quit BJP soon and cross over to the Congress.

The ex-MP, who is said to be miffed with the State BJP leaders over his neglect in the party, had remained incommunicado to several BJP leaders including MP Shobha Karandlaje and State BJP Chief Yeddyurappa.

Gearing up for disaster management must: DC Randeep

Disaster Management Specialist Dr. G. Vishwanath addressing the gathering at a seminar in city yesterday.

Mysuru, Oct.26 (SP&VNS)- Fighting natural disaster is like fighting a war and hence one must be completely geared-up to face it, said Deputy Commissioner D. Randeep. He was speaking after inaugurating a one-day seminar on 'Reformulation of District Disaster Management Policy (DDMP),' jointly organised by Karnataka State Disaster Management Authority (KSDMA) and Revenue Department at the Chamundeshwari Auditorium at the Regional Commissioner's office, here yesterday.

D. Randeep

Natural disaster causes such havoc that it does not even give time for the thought process to act fast. Though it cannot be stopped completely, the only way to bring down its effect is to control them to a certain extent, he said and added that the workshop would act as a platform to the officials to come out with strong plans to bring down the damage as much as possible.

"Authorities had never thought of rain creating a flood-like situation in Mysuru and Bengaluru. It was only after seeing its effect that the officials started to act. Instead, there is a need to be prepared in advance to face such situation," he said.

Speaking on the occasion, KSDMA Director Dr. G.S. Srinivas Reddy said that despite State Government spending Rs. 10,000 crore to Rs. 15,000 crore every year for the drought management, it had incurred a total loss of Rs. 85,000 crore as the State was hit by drought situation continuously for four to five years.

It was important for the State Government to organise programmes for the officials to update themselves with respect to management of disaster-like situations, he added.

Musical feature 'Girija Kalyana' at BVB on Saturday

R.V. Padmalatha

Mysuru, Oct.26- Kalabharathi, the Cultural Wing of Bharatiya Vidya Bhavan (BVB), Mysuru Kendra, has organised a musical feature titled 'Girija Kalyana' on Saturday (Oct. 28) at 6 pm at its Y.T. Thathachari Auditorium in Vijayanagar 1st Stage here.

Inspired by Virupaksha Pandit's Chenna Basava Purana, the ancient Shiva Purana and many customary songs sung in the marriages and cultural functions, Vidu. B.H. Nagarathnamma, a senior Gamaka artiste and 'Karnataka Kalashri' awardee, has collated songs along with her compositions to weave the story of Girija Kalyana into a musical garland. This musical episode is being sung by six reputed artistes (students of Vidu. B.H. Nagarathnamma) led by Vidu. R.V. Padmalatha, who is a graded Gamaka artiste of All India Radio.

The musical depiction is about the divine couple Shiva and Parvati's son Karthikeya slaying the demon Tarakasura. Giriraja, the King of Himalayas and his consort Meinadevi, beget Parvathi as their daughter after a long penance. Parvathi happens to be the reincarnation of Dakshayini, who was Shiva's wife and was burnt during Daksha Yagnya. Unable to bear the troubles inflicted by Tarakasura, the devas pray Lord Shiva who in turn marries Parvathi and begets Karthikeya as son.

Karthikeya takes the command of the army of the devas and kills Tarakasura. Thus the matrimony of Shiva and Parvathi culminates in the well-being of the Universe.

England, Spain set up all-European final

Kolkata, Oct. 26- England and Spain have set up a tantalising clash in the final of the 2017 FIFA U-17 World Cup after both advanced from their respective semi-finals played yesterday.

England were the first to book their place in Saturday's decider after claiming an impressive 3-1 win over three-time champions Brazil at the Salt Lake Stadium in Kolkata.

Rhian Brewster broke the deadlock in the 10th minute for England when he was picked out inside the area with a neat floated pass from Callum Hudson-Odoi.

Although the Liverpool starlet's initial effort was saved by Gabriel Brazao, the rebound fell kindly back into his path and he made no mistake in bundling the ball into the back of the net.

Brazil did manage a response 11 minutes later after Paulinho's ferocious effort was spilled by Curtis Anderson; Wesley stealing in ahead of Joel Latibeaudiere to net from close range.

However, Brewster restored his side's advantage six minutes before halftime when he finished from inside the six-yard box, after an excellent run and cross down the right by Steven Sessegnon.

And, with 13 minutes remaining, the 17-year-old completed his hat-trick with another trademark poacher's goal, finding himself unmarked to convert Emile Smith-Rowe's layoff and cap off another impressive display from Steve Cooper's charges.

With the victory, England progress to the U-17 World Cup final for the first time in their history, where they will meet a side with plenty of pedigree in the form of three-time runners-up Spain.

Having began their campaign as one of the pre-tournament favourites, the Spanish continued to deliver on their promise as they dispatched 2015 finalists Mali with a 3-1 triumph at the D.Y. Patil Stadium.

Abel Ruiz emerged as the star of the show as he opened the scoring from the penalty spot after 19 minutes before doubling his and his side's tally in the 43rd minute, neatly finishing Youssouf Koita after being released by Cesar Gelabert's visionary through-pass.

Ferran Torres then added a third for Spain in the 71st minute to put the result beyond doubt, although Mali did manage a consolation effort three minutes later through a Lassan Ndiaye effort.

IDIOM OF THE DAY

Under the weather

Meaning: Feeling sick; ill. It can also mean that a person is feeling sad or depressed.
Origin: This idiom possibly has nautical or seafaring origins. According to a source, it is said that in the olden days, when a sailor was feeling seasick, "he was sent down below to help his recovery, under the deck and away from the weather."
According to another source, a book called Salty Dog Talk: The Natuical Origins of Everyday Expressions, by Bill Beavis (Author) and Micahel Howorth (Author), it says the following regarding this phrase: "To feel ill. Originally it meant to feel seasick or to be adversely affected by bad weather." It goes on to say: "The term is correctly 'under the weather bow' which is a gloomy prospect; the weather bow is the side upon which all the rotten weather is blowing." The earliest recording of the idiom is from the newspaper Jeffersonville Daily Evening News, 1835, and it says: "'I own Jessica is somewhat under the weather to-day, figuratively and literally,' said the gentleman, amusedly, giving a glance at the lady over in the corner."
Example: Elise just got back from her vacation in Florida, but sadly, she returned feeling a bit under the weather because she had a sore throat, a runny nose, and a fever.
